Volume 21 issue 1

January 2021

January is here! As we welcome in 2021, and say good riddance to 2020, let us not be too hasty in dismissing the past year. Though the year may have been exceedingly difficult for people all over the world, it has taught us some valuable lessons. The first lesson that I hoped you learned, was that we truly are all in this together. Before the pandemic, most of us lived our lives disconnected form the realities of our neighbors. We now know that simply ignoring the suffering of our neighbors is not an option. Nor is ignoring the bad and boorish behavior. It is crucial to speak up when folks endanger others (like by not wearing a mask in public) but also when their words and behaviors are dangerous in other ways. We have also learned to be creative. I have seen so many videos on how to make my own mask at home. I was astounded by the resourcefulness of others. People have also found innumerable ways to keep themselves "entertained" during isolation. I hope we hold onto our new found resourcefulness and creativity. I learned to waste less. When going to the store is far riskier than it was previously, we should consider whether we will eat those leftovers or throw them away. Or, if I need to fix something around the house, do I have something else in the garage that will do the trick? Can I fix this broken thingamabob?

Considering how much I've learned, I can't say I want to repeat 2020, but I am grateful for all the new lessons I've learned. I am also grateful for all the doctors, nurses, grocery store attendants, and all of the front-line workers and first responders. Maybe the best lesson of 2020 is that I am more grateful every day. Thank you, Lord, for this hard learned but important lesson!

Grace and Peace to you all!

Pastor David J. Martin

An email reminder will be sent each Sunday morning with the link to join as well

We will resume our blended zoom/in person worship when the state 7-day average returns to orange condition. We hope that will be soon, but we are acting in an abundance of caution for the sake of our members and are doing everything we can to keep people safe.

We are asking you to stay home and worship with us remotely via zoom. Not only that we are encouraging you to stay home, stay socially distant, wear a mask, and wash your hands. I know that many of us are experiencing "Covid fatigue" We want to eat in restaurants, and spend time with friends and relatives, but that time has not yet come. Its really important that we go well beyond the guidelines, and minimize contact, and follow the best practices of social distancing. There is a vaccine on the way, but it will be late spring before enough doses have been distributed to come anywhere near what is called "herd immunity." It is our civic, patriotic, and Christian duty to keep others safe, and be good stewards of our health.
